

Christmas Celebration

On December 17, Colegio Biblico students, faculty and staff from both campuses gathered to celebrate Christmas. They enjoyed a meal and a special choir presentation by students and some staff. Several friends of Colegio sent special offerings for the students' Christmas, Southwest Christian Church sent gifts to the students' children (Jim & Lynda Rankin came to Eagle Pass to deliver them) and Noemí Prieto from Eagle Pass graciously secured presents for the students and their children as well. Thank you all!

January Work Teams

Rick Smalling, senior pastor at LaFontaine Christian Church in LaFontaine, Indiana, has organized and will be leading three work groups during the month of January. They will be working on the construction of Work Team Housing at the Mexico Campus. The old building that once served as the cafeteria was demolished in preparation for the arrival of the volunteer crews. They have been constructing the cement foundation and installing the plumbing. The building will have a men's and a women's dormitory with capacity for 20 people in each room. Thanks to all for the great work you are doing!

Student Missions

During the Christmas break, Eagle Pass Campus students Caleb Northrup, Paul Puluc, and Alejandro Espíndola traveled to San Raymundo, Guatemala, for a week of missions. They worked with Juan Elvira ('08) who has been ministering in Guatemala since he graduated from Colegio. The three young men led a Vacation Bible School at a nearby village where there is no church. They also worked with youth, led worship and evangelized. May God continue to bless His work in Guatemala and those who labor in His name.
